

SPECTRUM II SEVENTY

"...it is impossible, it is impossible to convey the life-sensation of any given epoch of one's existence-that which makes its truth, its meaning, its subtle and penetrating essence. It is impossible. We live, as we dream-alone..."

Joseph Conrad

SPECTRUM II
NORTH CENTRAL COLLEGE
NAPERVILLE, ILLINOIS
1970-Vol. 1

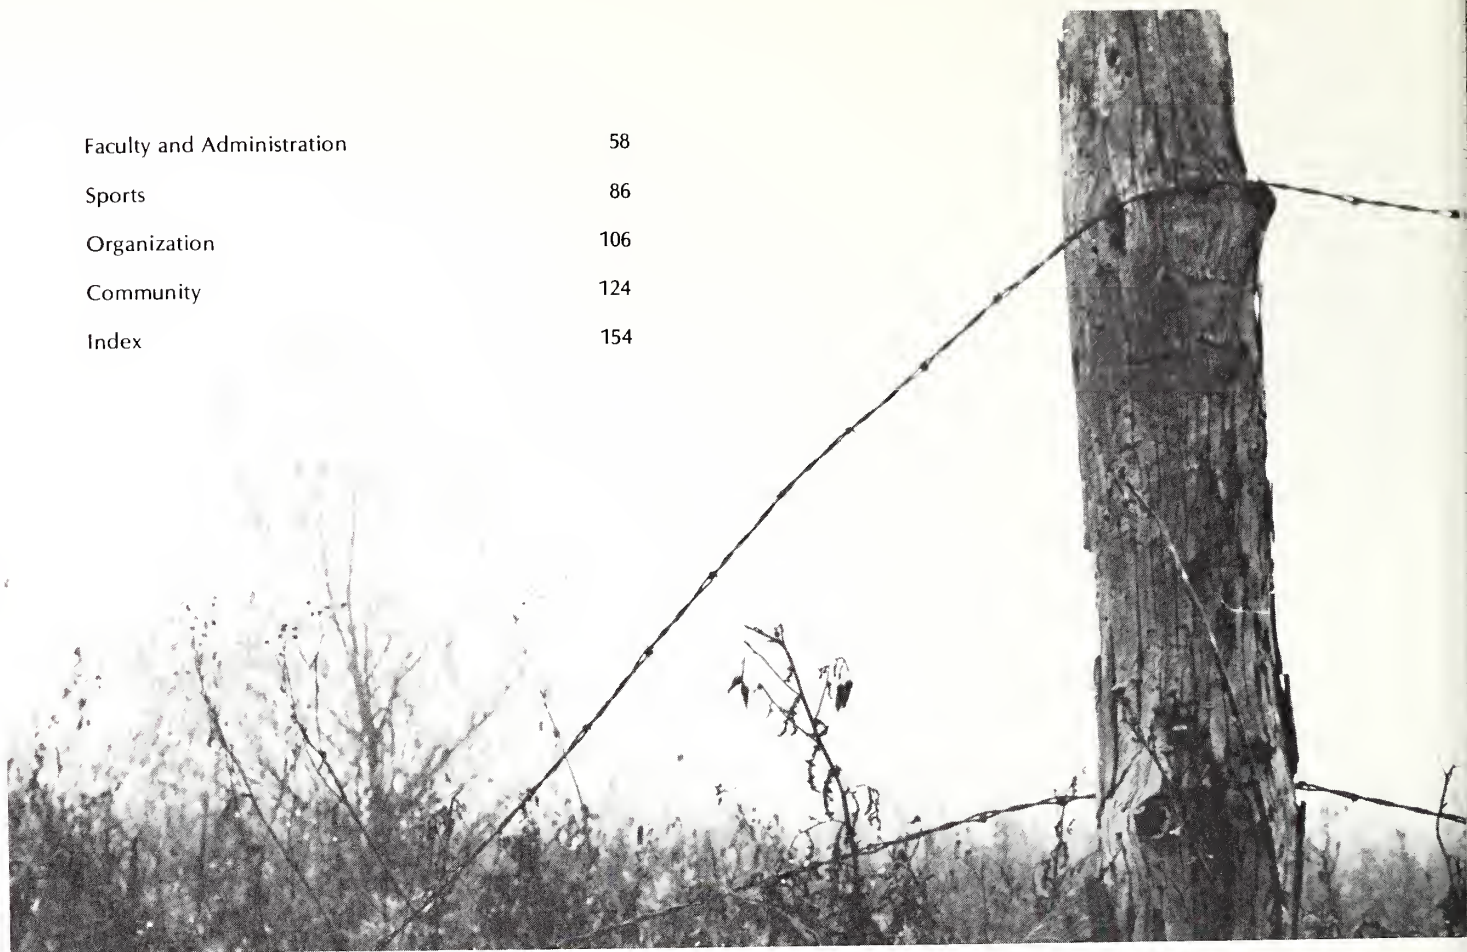

NCC, 1970. There's no denying it happened, for we lived it — it was real. But after all is said (especially SAID) and done, the state of the College, 1970, remains an intangible. We are here engaged in an attempt to substantiate, categorize, eulogize, or otherwise describe a "given epoch" — a chunk of time which we of SPECTRUM II find worthy of reflection.

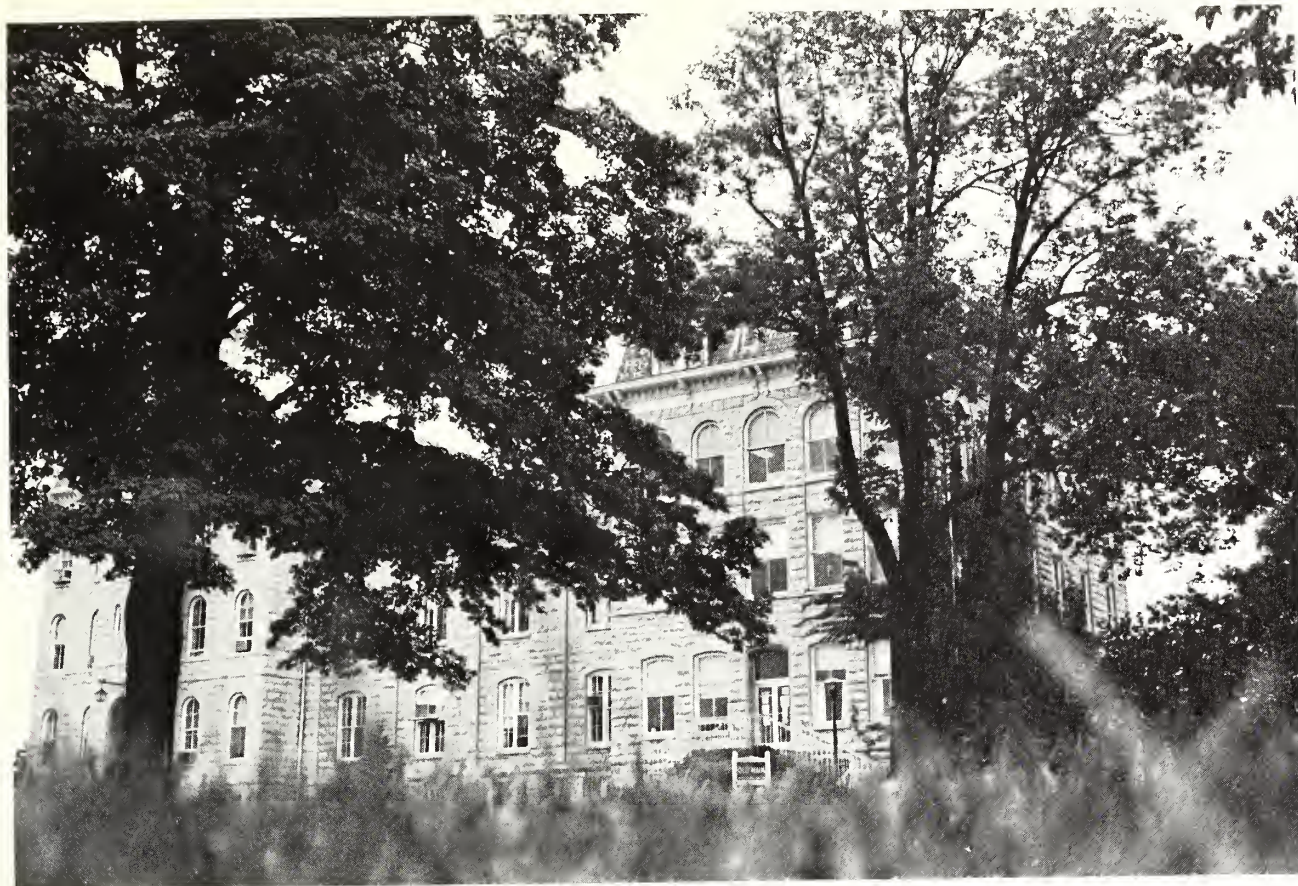

"North Central is a small college—and elects to remain a small college. . . " Small—like a womb? Perhaps. Four additional years of security in a very personal environment, before we take our tumble into the world. But not dark and alone like a womb. In fact, not "like" anything. It has been charged that NCC presently suffers from an identity crisis—and probably so. For free inquiry has a habit of disrupting, dislocating, and dissolving into confusion those traditional standards which once seemed so invincible. But change is an arduous enterprise, and those valiant enough to attempt it are to be commended. And so it happens that the brand new frosh at NCC fails to discover a citadel of wisdom and truth, complete with established life philosophy. Instead, he is forced to begin anew, to seek, and question and weigh. All of his personal resources will be called into play. But as he turns inward, he simultaneously (and paradoxically) turns outward to the state of flux about him. Knowing that states of flux insure easy osmosis of ideas, for four years he considers, filters out, rejects, defines and redefines. And so the quest goes on.

As we see it, this is the framework of our life-sensation at North Central. There's more though—much more—so C.C. and seek it out!

FACULTY

Humanly, we grumble under their yoke of finals, lab practicals, and panel discussions. But somehow the pain is a little easier to bear when we realize that THEY TOO are searching, learning, and growing, in the broadest sense.

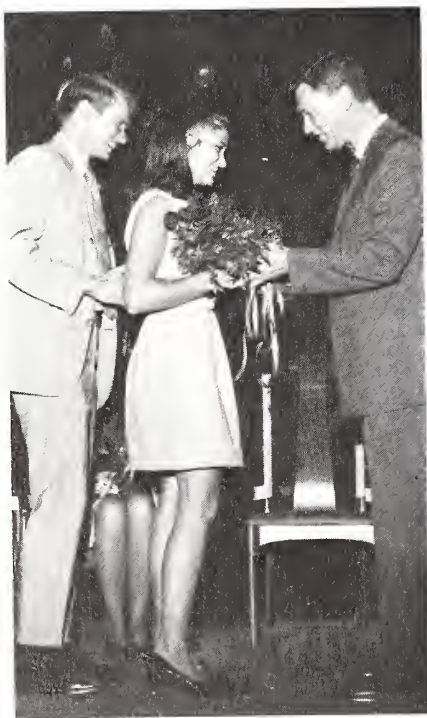

A MOST DIFFICULT TASK

Arlo Schilling; B.S., M.S., Ph.D.
President, 1960.

Dealing with the harsh realities of finance, public relations, student unrest and progress has been the role of Dr. Schilling in the last year and a half. He has recently been concentrating on funds to finance the newly dedicated Science Center. Through the efforts of Dr. Schilling, students and faculty, it has been possible to bring the trustees into closer contact with campus needs and desires. It will be impossible for readers to digest and understand Dr. Schilling's contributions to our community. You must experience North Central.

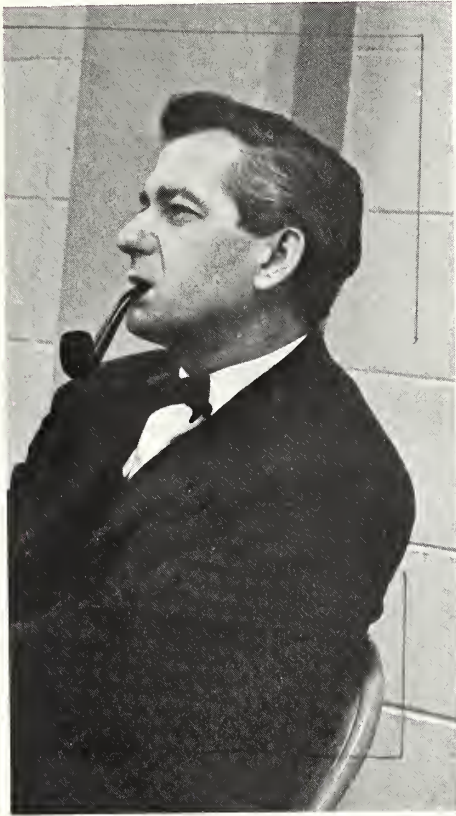

A moment of pleasure in congratulating
Queen Carol.

Reflection

AN OPPORTUNITY — TO GIVE

Victor Arnold; B.A., M.A., Ph. D. Dean of the College, Professor of History, 1963.

Under the guiding leadership of Dr. Arnold, North Central began a process of self-evaluation and restructuring. The program involved dialogue between students, faculty and administrators which resulted in proposals for an Institute for Social Change, a community governance, students-initiated programs and structures for continuing re-evaluation.

Dean Boucher and Dean Thorsen have been dealing with the regular problems confronted each year as well as providing valuable input for the Phoenix program. The role of Dean of students becomes a more difficult task with each year, but the Deans remain responsive.

Morris Boucher; Jr.; A.B., M.A. Dean of Students, Asst. Professor of Education, 1967.

Ruth Thorsen; B.S., M.S. Assoc. Dean of Students.

Gordon McDiarmid Assoc. Dean of Students, Psychological Counselor.

Ruth Thorsen, B.S., M.S. Dean of Students 1970.

The Fall of 1970 brought some new faces to Administrative positions. Dr. Eastman became Dean of the Faculty after Dr. Arnold's resignation. Miss Ruth Thorsen was selected Dean of Students, with Gordon McDiarmid as assistant dean and psychological counselor. Administrative roles have been revised in an attempt to make North Central more responsive to the needs of our academic community.

CONGRATULATIONS

FROM THE MIND OF A MAN . . .

Liela Rumbaugh; B.A., M.A.,
Ph.D. Asst. Professor of English.

The dialogue between faculty and students within the English department has resulted in the increase of course offerings. Through these additions it is believed that the department will aid the major's understanding and better prepare him for graduate study or teaching. The non-major will be able to expand his area of English appreciation through these improvements.

The English department has offered seminars during the interim periods dealing with the decadent art and literature of the 1890's, the "The Works of John Updike." In the Fall of 1970, Dr. Cerovski became department chairman.

Richard Obermeyer, B.S., M.A. ASST.
Professor of Speech.

Speech enables students to develop ability in public speaking and precise thinking, as well as providing a means to self-understanding.

Drama majors were involved with Theatre Guild productions, children's theater, and were able to write and direct plays throughout the year. The Department was also involved in forensic and debate tournaments and co-sponsored an interim opera-drama workshop.

Classics

Dr. Hower's department has been offering the community experience with the classical through his Latin, Greek, and history courses. The knowledge comes not only from the discipline, but from Dr. Hower as well.

Dr. Hower is a scholar among scholars and has opened many students to the beauty of language in his years of teaching at North Central. Dr. Hower retired at the end of the 1970 school year. He was the recipient of the Distinguished Teacher Award for 1969-1970.

Charles Hower, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. Professor of Classics.

COMMUNICATING WITH

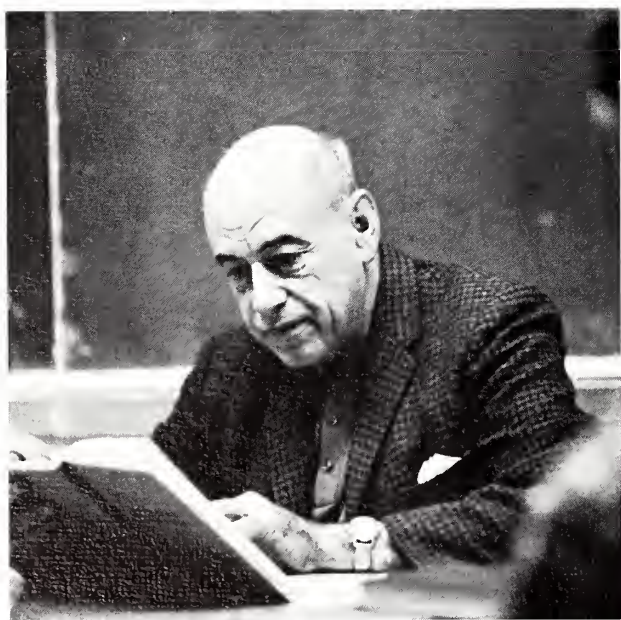

Pierre LeBeau, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. Assoc. Professor of French.

As we are made aware that we are not the only country and culture of the earth, it is vital that we learn of the cultures and languages of other men. Our language department offers courses in French, German and Spanish on a regular basis. Students take advantage of Independent Study projects, January Interim offerings, and the Junior Year abroad program.

Jane Eldon, B.A., M.A. Asst. Professor of French and Spanish.

Martin Zwart, B.A., M.A., Ph.D. Professor of German.

EXISTING . . . CONFRONTATION . . . LIVING

The religion department offers opportunities to respond to the religious concerns of culture, as well as developing understanding and evaluation of religious thought. The religion department has been instrumental in offering unique courses in an attempt to widen the experiences of students, both majors and non-majors. Four students had the opportunity of a field lab experience with Naperville area churches this year. Investigation has begun into the possibility of joint-programing with other disciplines for an urban semester.

Within the philosophy department the attempt is also made to apply the material to other areas of study. The classroom doesn't always provide the best situation for philosophical discussion, so often the Cage is the center of the learning experience. A concern for the development of the individual and not his particular position is of major concern within the philosophy curriculum.

Jacob Sackmann; B.A., B.D.,

sor of Religion.

To Create Is To Be Alive

Diane Duvigneaud; B.S., M.F.A.
Assoc. Professor of Art.

Cries of Peace! Peace!, but there is no
Peace ... yet.

The Art Department tries to offer the student as much leeway as possible to develop his own style and to concentrate on subjects which interest him. Mrs. Duvigneaud is pleased with the flexible curriculum which includes courses in water color, oil painting, draw/sketch, and design.

The addition of six banners completed the display in the college library. This display is the gift of the class of 1968. Another permanent display, "Images," has been placed in the Pfeiffer Hall mezzanine. These figure studies were originally done for the 1969 "Spring Thing."

The Art Department held two spring shows. The first was held in conjunction with "Spring Thing," and featured water colors, figure projects, and work from the Draw/Sketch class. The second featured figure studies and the projects of senior art majors.

Growth comes with the learning

AN UNFINISHED SYMPHONY . . .

Paul Allen; B.M., M.M. Professor of Music.

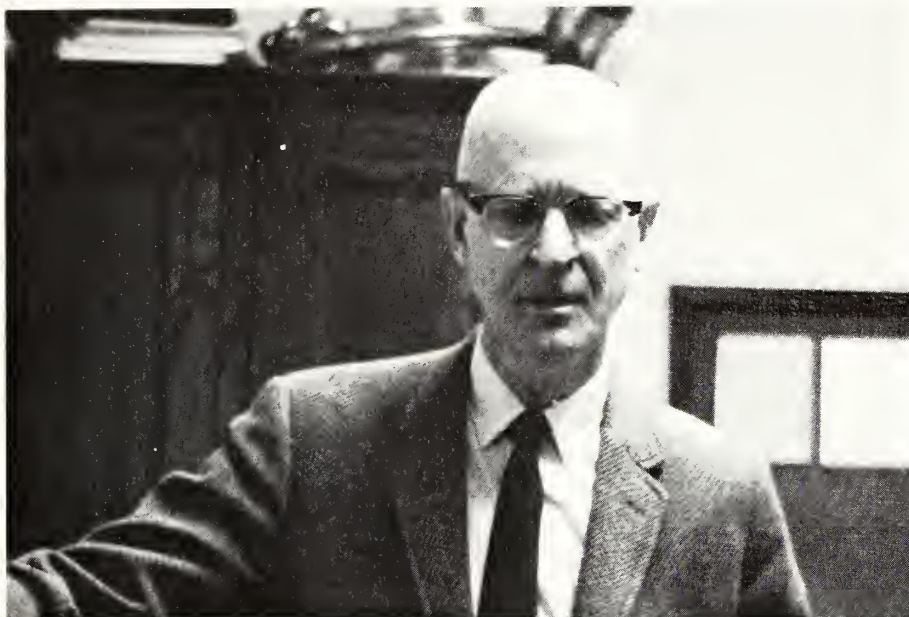

Gordon Farndell; Mus. B., Mus. M.,
Ph.D. Professor of Music.

Ann McKinley; B.M., M.M., Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of Music.

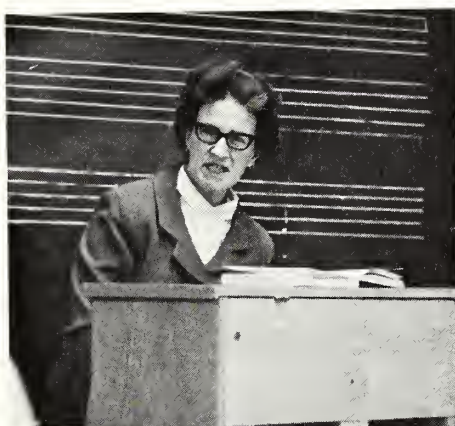

Bernard Izzo; B.M.E., M.M. Asst. Professor of Music, Artist in Residence.

Clarence Shoemaker; B.A., M.M.E. Instructor in Music.

David Burk; B.M., M.M. Instructor in Music.

Marian Schap; A.B., M.A. Asst. Professor of Music.

The Music Department emphasizes the use of experience as a means of preparing students for professional or teaching positions. Through concerts on campus and during touring sessions, the students gain experience with choir, band, oratorio, and orchestra as well as coping with public and interpersonal relations.

Music is, to our community, a major source of exposure for the appreciation of fine arts. With the reduction of the department next year, the community will be losing a part of itself and some opportunities for learning. Our community will then confront a new learning experience.

THEORETICAL RELATIONSHIPS

Donald Johnson, B.A., M.S. Asst. Professor of Mathematics.

June Shiffler, B.A. Instructor in Mathematics.

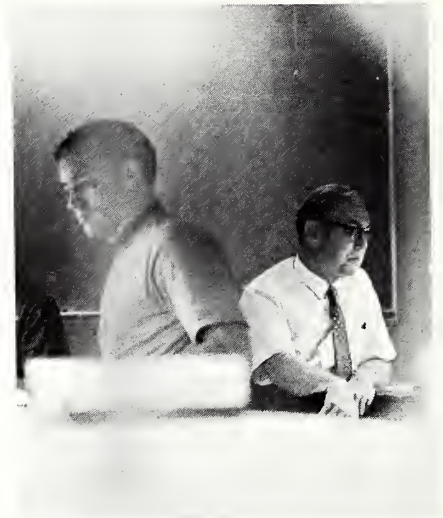

Carol Ulsafer, B.S., M.S. Instructor in Mathematics.

As the math department moves into new facilities, it is expecting to expand its use of computers whenever possible. Math courses help to prepare students for Graduate study and teaching careers. Many areas of mathematics are valuable for functioning within other disciplines, thus math is integrated into other courses, whenever possible.

SCIENCES . . .

The Biology Department places emphasis on making students more sensitive to the physical world which surrounds them. In addition to preparation for research and teaching, students are made aware of current issues through courses in ecology and environment. A new area of interest was opened by various cave trips directed by Dr. Terrance Marsh. An interim seminar concerned with primate study was co-sponsored with the Psychology and Sociology Departments. The Science Center was dedicated on November 11, 1970 by Dr. Paul Ehrlich. The community was introduced to the available facilities through an Open House.

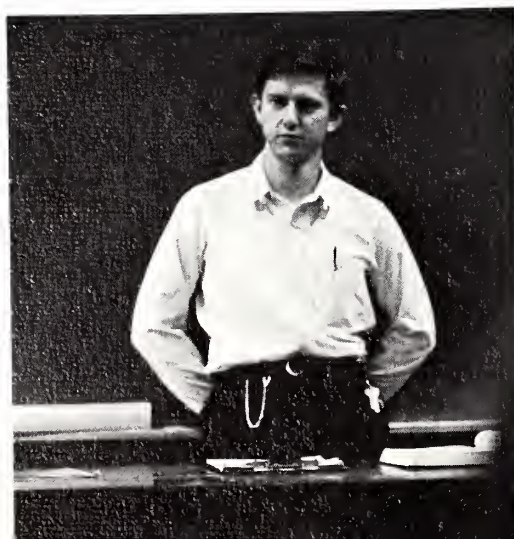

Russell Hanson; B.A., Ph. D. Professor of Biology.

Marie Tucker; B.A., M.S., Ph.D. Assoc. Professor of Biology.

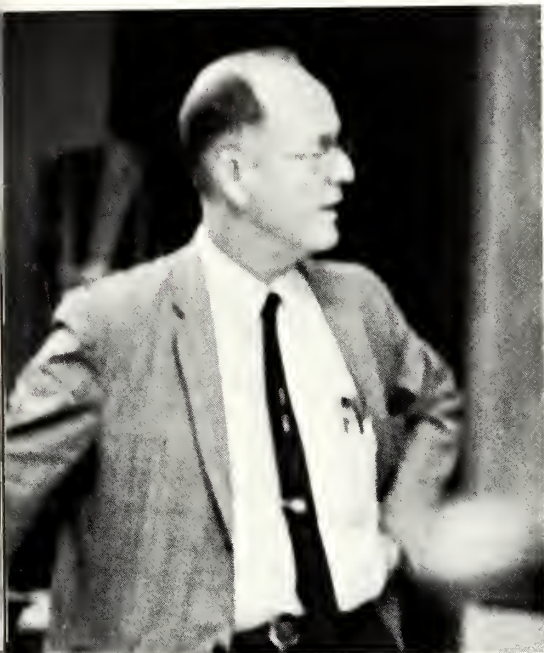

Wesley Stieg; B.A., M.S. Asst. Professor of Biology.

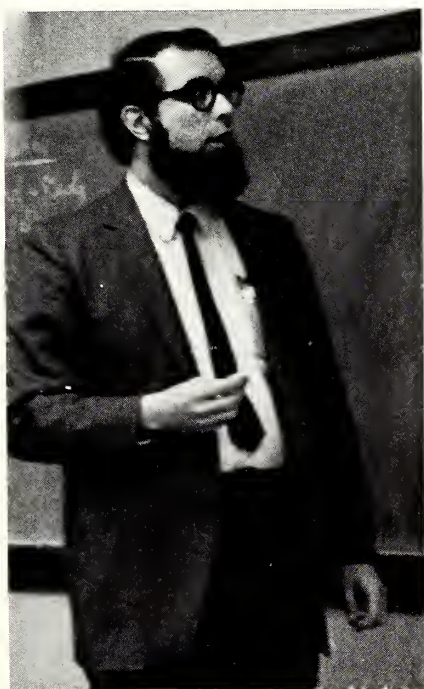

Terrance Marsh; A.B., M.S., Ph.D. Asst. Professor of Biology.

soc. Professor of Chemistry.

Bernard Coyle; B.S., M.S.,
Ph.D. Asst. Professor of Chemistry

Anne Sherren; B.A., Ph.D.
Assoc. Professor of Chemistry.

The Physics Department has been able to expand its learning opportunities through the availability of a computer at IIT; and the electronics facilities of the Science Center have enabled more study in the vital areas.

An interest in the industrial programs has been of major concern to the Chemistry Department, thus its interim offering included a visitation to area industries. The Science Center facilities have been important to the bettering of the Chemistry curriculum.

OPENESS TO THE PAST

Carthage

The History Department attempts to give students a broad view and thorough understanding of the history of all nations. In addition to the Afro-American history course, it is hoped that offerings might be broadened to include courses on Russia, the Far East, and Black Studies. Each survey course emphasizes some major aspect of national or cultural development.

CAMBODIA

Through the efforts of Drs. Arnold and Karson, the ASIIA Speakers series has kept the community alive to international concerns. Dr. Karson succeeded the late Dr. Gierre as department chairman in 1969. It is hoped that courses in Urban and Asian politics will be added as well as further interdisciplinary courses. Such a course was offered by the Political Science and Religion department this last Fall.

CONCERNED WITH "WHO?"

Sociology and Anthropology helps us to understand who we are and how to better deal with the problems of society. The department has been in the foreground in providing learning experiences within the Chicago area. Inter-disciplinary courses have been developed in an attempt to better relate the field with other disciplines.

A new staff was gathered for the current year with the new ideas providing a valuable source of dialogue and learning.

Richard Thurston; B.A., M.A., PhD.
Professor of Sociology and Anthropology.

Jay Weinstein; A.B., M.A. Asst.
Professor of Sociology and Anthropology.

CONCERNED WITH "WHY?"

Elmer Sundby; B.A., M.A., Ph.D.
Professor of Psychology.

Large areas of new understanding have been opened up through the study of psychology. The Psychology Department attempts to not only review what has gone before, but to give the opportunity for involvement now on the research level.

This past semester, with the new Science Center offering experimental facilities, the department dealt with the psychological effects of feeding habits on mice. In this way students have the experience of dealing with theory and procedure.

Phyllis Courtney; B.A., M.A. Instructor of Psychology.

Nancy Hardison; B.A., M.A., Ph.D.
Asst. Professor of Psychology.

Olga Engelhardt; A.B., A.M., Ph.D.
Professor of Psychology.

OUR SOCIETY'S YARDSTICK

Harry Heckman; A.B., M.S.,
Ph.D. Professor of Economics and Business Administration.

In an attempt to broaden the understanding of Economics, the Economics and Business Department is currently planning several interdisciplinary courses with the Psychology and the Sociology and Anthropology departments. There are non-specialized courses, such as Consumer Economics and Personal Insurance and Investments, being made available to the student body. Economics majors gain experience by working with Chicago area business men in an internship program.

"The result of good economic practice!"

To perceive economic theory, one must have the sharp eyes and swiftness of a "Falco sparverius".

Terry Luetgert; A.B.,
M.B.A. Instructor in Economics and Business.

OUR SOCIETY'S NEEDS

Gus Constantine; A..B., M.A.,
Ed.D. Professor of Education.

Preparing teachers to guide youth and adults to an understanding of life is the need of America in 1971. Our Education Department is responsible for providing experience in which our students may learn how to best satisfy this need. Learning opportunities come through the semester of student teaching and teacher's aid programs. Our community is also introduced, through course offerings, to the system of education from which they just escaped and to the system they're now entering.

Rita Goldman; B.Ed., M.A.
Ph.D. Asst. Professor of Education.

Fred Muskal; B.A., M.A. Instructor in Education.

RUN FOR FUN

Ralph Mc Alister, B.A., M.A. Assoc. Professor of Physical Education. Director of Athletics.

Peggy McDowell, B.S. Instructor in Physical Education.

Gene Rossi, B.S., M.A. Asst. Professor of Physical Education.

Al Carius, B.S., M.S. Asst. Professor of Physical Education.

In addition to preparing majors for teaching or coaching positions, the Physical Education Department is attempting to introduce programs that will have lasting effects. To this end they have introduced a course in jogging and are considering a sports appreciation course. These activities will provide activities which students can enjoy all their lives.

Mr. Al Carius will soon be named Department Chairman and will head an almost new department.

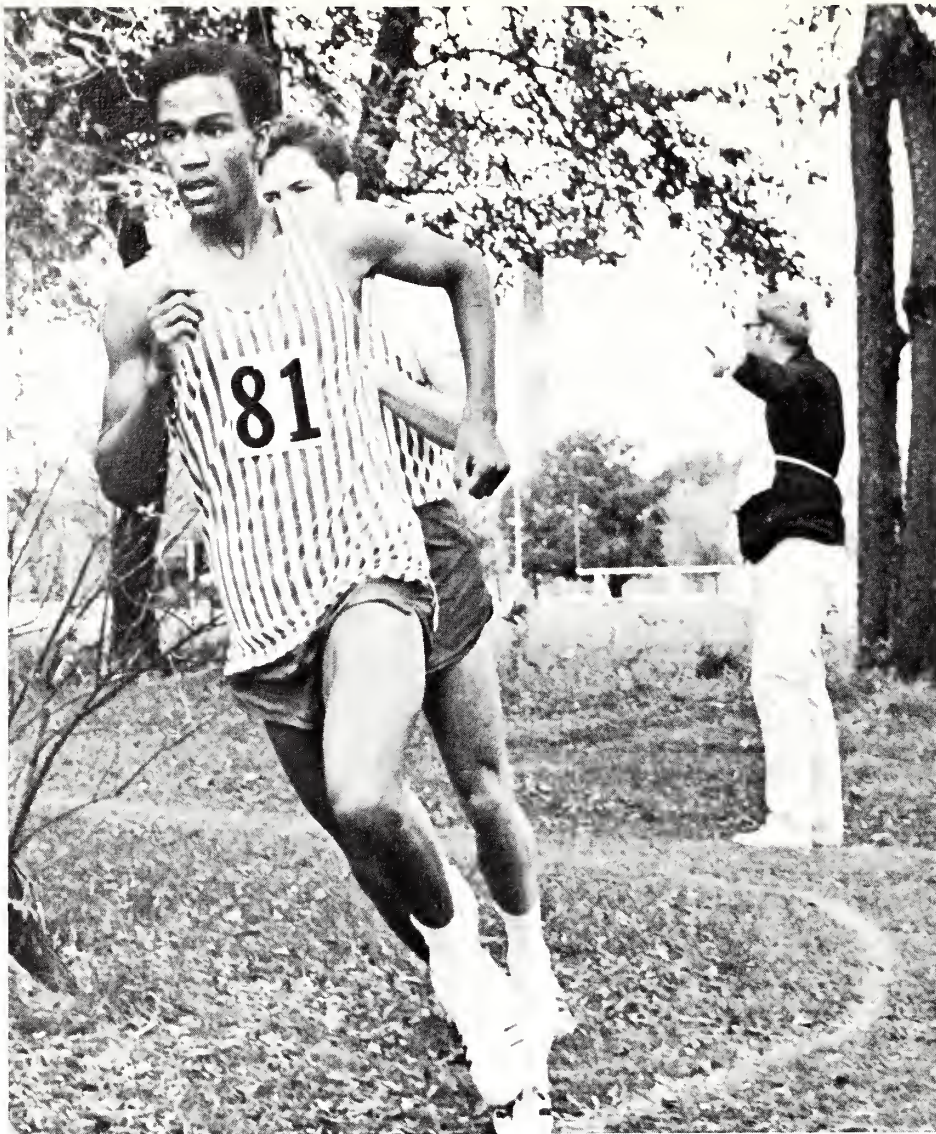

Robert Brown; B.S., M.A., Ed.D. Asst. Professor of Physical Education.

Ted Wissen; B.S., M.S. Asst. Professor of Physical Education.

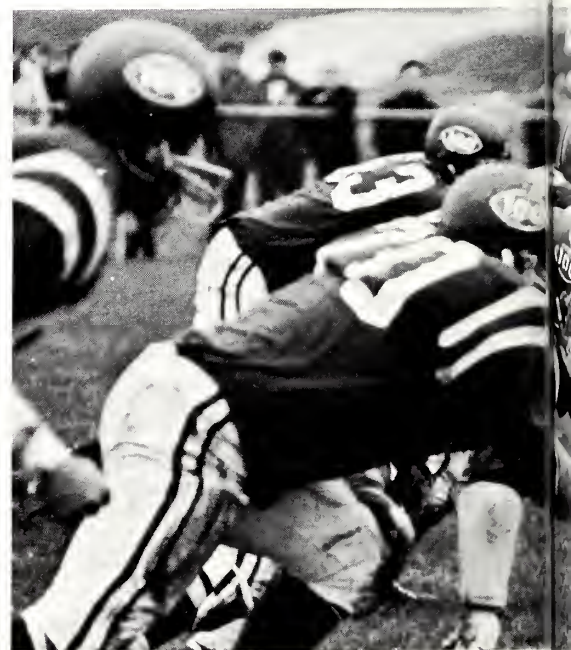

Cleo Tanner; B.S., M.A. Assoc. Professor of Physical Education.

S P O R T S

In athletic competition we confront the hard reality of success and failure. No text can teach us how to cope with the problems involved. Only by being involved can we learn our abilities and weaknesses. Sports offer a unique opportunity for education.

BUMPS AND BRUISES

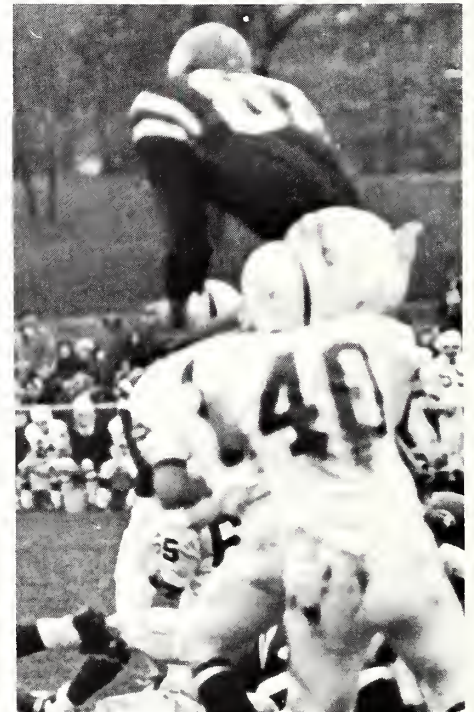

As teammates look on, the defense starts doing its job.

Closing in for the kill. Ouch!

The football squad put up a good effort, but couldn't quite put it all together to come up with a win. There was plenty of action though for the fans that made it to Kroehler Field. Football provides some very practical education, for we must all learn to win and lose. The Cards broke their losing streak in 1971 by beating St. Procopius 21-18.

WITH A WINNING SEASON

North Central's winningest team of the decade finished the sixties with another very successful season. Mel Kinlow brought the school 4 mile record down to 19:58. Mel shares the new 5 mile standard with Junior Gary Barrett at 25:17.

The Third Annual North Central Marathan became a national class event attracting 175 athletes from the entire midwest area.

LOTS OF EXCITEMENT

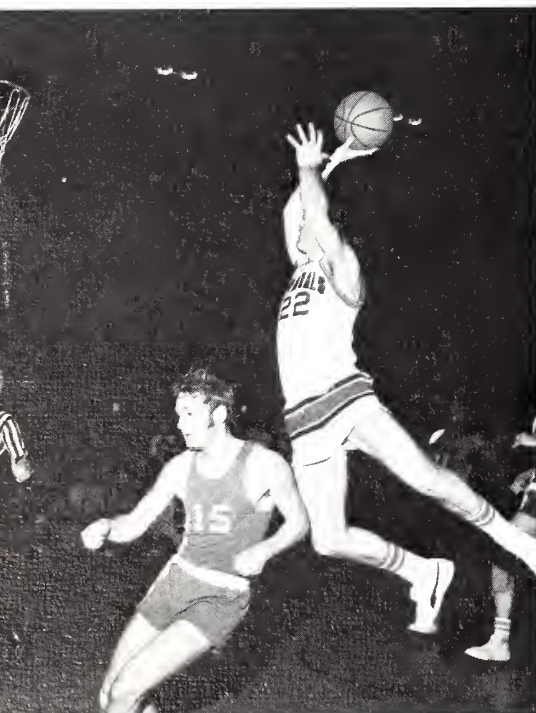

Steve Rapp

The Cardinal Cagers completed a successful season and provided the fans with plenty of excitement. To cause excitement, it is necessary to put forth with 100% effort, and the pictures capture some of the sweat and strain that is a part of basketball. To play the game well, you have to want to play, and this year's team, under the direction of Ted Wissen and James Longacre, showed the college community it wanted to play.

It's a struggle under the basket.

MIDWEST AND DISTRICT

Coach Al Carius — NAIA.

The 1970 indoor squad proved to be a Cinderella team. After a fair season the Cards won the Midwest Invitational in the last event. They also took the NAIA District 20 Championship. Collecting school records were: Kinlow, mile; Cyr, Snyder, Heller, and Kinlow, 2 mile relay; and Krumlauf, Kamp, Heller, and Kinlow, Sprint Medley Relay.

The Cards had a good season, but lack of depth kept the win column small. Individually there were some outstanding performances and many fans were treated to exciting races. The team spent January in Florida getting good workouts, and also some sun. Coach Rossi left the team at the end of the 1970 season, with Ed Kral now coaching the Cards through the 70-71 season.

THEY LOOK TO THE FUTURE

The Cards travelled to Lexington, Kentucky for their spring training trip and competed in the Kentucky Relays. New school standards include Mel Kinlow's 4:15.4 mile and Jeff Heller, Ron Kamp, Kinlow, and Lloyd Krumlauf's 3:34.5 Sprint Medley. Coach Carius is hoping to send several men to the NCAA Small College Championships, which produced two Cardinal All Americans last year.

The Student Senate, under the leadership of Tom Harman for 1969, Doug Ralston in 1970, and John Adams in 1971, has been transformed into a legitimate means of student power. Having got things moving, Ralston slowed things down in accordance with Phoenix, and Adams will be working with a comments grievance structure. The Senate looks to the future in an attempt to meet the needs of coming years, and some others are joining the movement.

Senate critics — the campus community.

CUAB AIDS AILING SOCIAL LIFE

The CUAB helps to initiate and sustain social activities for the campus. Besides its trips and tours, dances, and other activities the Coffee house is perhaps the best thing to come to North Central in years. In addition to allowing local talent to perform, the quality of performers, such as Don Crawford, and Minimum Daily Requirement, help to make the CUAB activity perhaps the most popular on campus.

Don Crawford is representative of some of the fine talent that Coffee house presents to students.

CHRISTIAN RESPONSES TO NEED

Seager Assoc. and CCM are means whereby the relationship of being a Christian and a student and citizen can be lived out to individual concerns. Both organizations provide many diversified activities which allows student to respond as they see fit to their priorities. There are both on and off campus projects provided by both, from community worship celebrations to Duning and Elgin programs which deal with juvenile delinquents and the mentally retarded. They are a Christian response to the needs around them.

SOME MAJOR CONCERNS

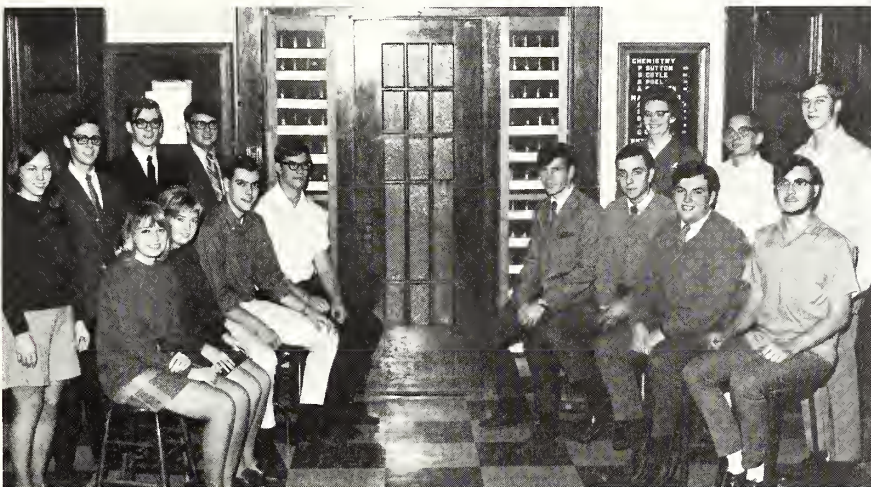

History Club, (L TO R); B. Bradna, L. Wedell, T. Mellish.

The History Club is composed by the majors in that field, but is open to anyone who is interested. Its purpose is to foster interest in historical study through discussions and practical applications of academic learning.

The Chem Club is interested in expanding the learning of the majors and keeps them informed and stimulates interest in the various areas of chemistry. The Cranberry Tea is a function of the Chem Club, it provides opportunity for community interest.

The Young Republicans help to make the campus aware of the political realities of our day and help in campaigning and participate in other activities for Republican candidates. This fall they brought Sen. Smith to campus during his campaign against Mr. Stevensen.

Young Republicans, J. Cross, T. Mellish, P. Rowland, J. Mudry, K. Beckett, J. Cooper, N. Pritchard, G. Carrigan, S. Karman, E. Beaman, L. Mager, T. Mellish.

CAMPUS HONORARIES

Beta Beta Beta — Biology Fraternity, Jim Rebel, Margo Sieber, Terry Hamrick, Bruce Warner, Kathlyn Dennert — Sec, Mr. Stieg — Advisor, Ed Ebert — Pres, Dr. Hanson, Caryl Burford — Historian, John Rogers, Ed Hedborn, Lanny Pfeffinger — V. Pres., Curtis Herink, Durt Dunn — Usher, Bob Tallitsch.

Alpha Psi — Dramatic Society, Wayne Kenas, Hud Hickman, Doug Ralston, Gerry Pederson, Linda Quantock. Not Pictured: Jerry Lipka, Rich Falk, Van Bowen, James A. Bagley.

North Central's honoraries cover every field and interest from services to our community, such as the Cheese Tea of BBB, to the work with bold note music for partially sighted people by SAI. To become a member of these honoraries, one must have a good academic standing, character, and personality. The people who are members are often leaders in the campus community and make significant contributions outside their academic field.

INVOLVED WITH ATHLETICS

Varsity Club is composed of those men who have earned a letter in a sport. It attempts to promote a spirit of brotherhood among the athletes both past and present. The Club helps to find prospective athletes and to promote community interest in athletics.

The Swim Timers is an organization which is composed of those women who are interested in assisting at Cardinal swimming meets with timing, judging, and other necessary duties.

OUR OWN CREATIONS

Tappa Kegga was formed by men in this community 4 years ago to promote intramural competition and good sportsmanship, to promote school spirit, social life, and a feeling of community among the members. Tappa Kegga has their own house which houses several upperclassmen. T.K. has provided our example of what can be done with a little initiative.

The Friars are also a community formed group and are largely involved with intra-mural activities.

Tappa Kegga House — an innovation.

Tappa Kegga, (L TO R) 1st ROW: B. Tallitsch, C. Schlinkmann, B. Evans, R. Anderson, T. Bramscher, J. Ferington, B. Fiacco, J. Bruckert — Sec., D. Pugh, H. Crouse, G. Bass, S. Summult, R. Ostergaard, J. Harmon, J. Mohr. ROW 2; S. Hallberg, J. Corser, R. Johnson, T. Vanderwall, J. Schlessner, Lon Lademann — Pres., J. Waldhuetter, S. Giere, J. McKenzie, D. Olsen, M. Poe.

Friars, D. Kenley, B. Zimmerman, D. Dober, M. Gallus, J. Ferri, J. Koziol, B. VanDoran, D. Bowers, J. Stafford, P. Trinka, D. Darigan.

BROADCASTING NCC ON WONC

Studio "A" of WONC.

WONC staff — Doug Ralston, Phil Duncan, Mr. Obermeyer, Rich Falk, and Paul Fry.

WONC was able to expand its broadcast time to eighty hours this year and has seen a surge of interest in its programming. It has served as a useful means of communication with the campus community, as was proven during the department reduction controversy in the Fall of 1970. Any student can work at WONC and it has a potential listening audience of 300,000. WONC has been doing a good job on a limited budget.

Wayne Kenas is calling the shots at a Cards Basketball game.

LITERARY INTERESTS

The Cardinal, North Central's literary magazine, gives the community a chance to have their efforts published. Poetry, drama, essays, and short stories, as well as photography and art work, are welcome contributions to the Cardinal.

Writer's Club encourages original writings and literary creations from individuals within the college. Bimonthly discussions have included the "poetry of Simon and Garfunkel" and through the efforts of Writer's Club, the poet John Anderson was brought to campus.

NC CHRONICLE CARRIES ON

Paul Christoferson — Photography, Darly Fansler — Copy Ed., Carol Kreitzer — Secretary, Laura Hinckley — Feature Ed. Stephen R. Sturk — Managing Ed., Robert La Hue — Sports Ed., Linda Korbakis — Staff Writer, Dick Hinckley — Ed.-in-Chief, Terry Hamrick — Business, Manager, Rich Toll — Ass't Ed., Curtis Mayfield — Columnist.

David Young — Columnist, Debbie Moyer — Adv. Staff, Paulette Gassman — Layout, Glen Gasior — Adv. Manager, Andy Sulshis — Cartoonist, Rae Gillett — Circulation, Marica Elliot — Headline.

What lies in the future?

NC Chronicle has been keeping the community informed on all the news that's fit to print ... Under the leadership of Dick Hinckley, Steve Sturk and now Peter Cardinal, the weekly paper has been the center of discussion and has brought many issues to the attention of the community. There has been an interest in combining publication, but for now, the NC Chronicle carries on!

AN IDEA AND AN EPITAPH

The Five = Alison Zima, Jeanne Fierabend, Michael Moser, Editor, Leroy Foster, Dianne Moorhead.

At its end, perhaps a new idea and a new being will arise.

MORE PFEIFFER PEOPLE

Madrigals, (TOP TO BOTTOM); Robert Pickett, Cathi Bertram, David Bushnell, Martha Lindsey, Alvin Murphy, Susan Wayo, Paul Frey, Linda Elliott, Nick Anderson, Sandy Gutknecht, Robert Buckley, Lydia Schmidt.

HAPPY PEOPLE, HAPPY TIMES

Opus 5 and Take Five spent the summer 1969 and 1970, in churches, camps, and coffeehouses touring for the college. Their creativity as individuals and as groups is a welcome addition to campus life. In 1971, the New Creation was born to offer new possibilities. Thanks to all of you for happy times!

COMMUNITY

At NCC, we're left in freedom (the sedate variety) to search out and develop an essential individuality, the "I am" which constitutes our uniqueness. And in a "small college that elects to remain small" we're also free to respond to the individual wholeness of others. Herein lies the heart (or soul) of North Central.

Photography by George Ricci and Ron Stewart. Thanks much. Peace!

As students, our view of North Central changes many times during our four year experience. We come to know happiness and excitement, but also disgust and frustration. For Seniors, that experience is over; we must now consider the responsibilities before us — to ourselves and all men. Our education has been wasted if we now slide back into the stagnant, okay world. I hope that SPECTRUM II has captured some of the views and feelings, but also a sense of awareness to our responsibilities as "educated" people.
